Understanding this Assessment Report

This is a report of a workplace assessment conducted by Fair Labor Association assessors following FLA's Sustainable Compliance methodology (SCI), which evaluates a facility's performance in upholding fair labor standards through effective management practices throughout the entire employment life cycle.

This report identifies violations and risks of noncompliance with the Fair Labor Association Workplace Code of Conduct in its assessment of the employment functions, and includes a description of the root causes of violations, recommendations for sustainable and immediate improvement, and the corrective action plan for each risk or violation as submitted by the company. This document is not a static report; rather, it reflects the most recent progress updates on remediation in the "Progress Update" section for each finding.

Summary of Code Violations

Companies that join the FLA agree to uphold the FLA Workplace Code of Conduct throughout their entire supply chain. The Code of Conduct is based on International Labour Organization (ILO) standards, and defines labor standards that aim to achieve decent and humane working conditions.

While it is important to note when violations of the FLA Workplace Code of Conduct occur, the purpose of these assessments is not simply to test compliance against a particular benchmark, but rather to develop an understanding of where and how improvements can be made to achieve sustainable compliance. Code of Conduct violations can be found throughout the course of an assessment of the employment and management functions, and are addressed in companies' action plans.

FINDING NO.5

IMMEDIATE ACTION REQUIRED

FINDING TYPE: Compensation

Finding Explanation

1. A review of social insurance payments from September 2015 to September 2016 showed that the factory does not provide workers with sufficient social insurance. Only 385 out of 796 (48.3%) workers were provided with maternity, pension, unemployment, and medical insurance in September 2016. All workers were provided with work-related injury insurance.
2. The contribution base for pension and unemployment insurance is not in line with legal requirements. The factory's contributions should be based on a worker's actual monthly wage (about CNY 2,800 to CNY 5,400 per month (USD 374.8 to ~ USD 599.7)). However, the factory contributes to unemployment insurance based on CNY1895 (USD 284) per month and to pension insurance based on CNY 2408 (USD 361).
3. Factory policy indicates that only workers who are seriously ill (e.g. in the hospital) are entitled to paid sick leave, while local law requires employers to provide pay sick leave unless employees cannot provide evidence of sickness. This policy is not fully communicated to workers, and about 60% of the workers interviewed said the factory does not provide sick leave.
4. The factory does not pay unused annual leave to resigned workers, as legally required. The final payouts reviewed by assessors did not include this payment and none of the workers interviewed were not aware of this requirement.
5. The factory did not issue payments for legally required paid holidays to workers who were on personal leave for the whole month. For example, one sampled worker took personal leave for the whole month of October 2015 and did not receive three days' holiday wages for China National Day.
6. The factory does not provide pay slips to production workers, although they do provide them to management staff.
7. The factory only contributes to the Housing Provident Fund for 339 out of 796 (42.5%) workers. Furthermore, the contribution base of the Housing Provident Fund is not in line with legal requirements. The factory's contributions should be based on a worker's average monthly wage over the last 12 months (about CNY 2,800 to CNY 5,400 per month (USD 374.8 to ~ USD 599.7)). However, the factory bases its contributions on CNY 2060 per month (USD 308)).

FINDING NO.7

SUSTAINABLE IMPROVEMENT REQUIRED

FINDING TYPE: Industrial Relations

Finding Explanation

1. The factory does not provide workers with a copy of the Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA).

2. FLA Comments: The Chinese constitution guarantees Freedom of Association; however, the Trade Union Act prevents the establishment of trade unions independent of the sole official trade union – the All-China Federation of Trade Unions (ACFTU). According to the International Labor Organization (ILO), many provisions of the Trade Union Act are contrary to the fundamental principles of freedom of association, including the non-recognition of the right to strike. As a consequence, all factories in China fall short of the ILO standards on the right to organize and bargain collectively. Recently, however, the government has introduced new regulations that could improve the functioning of the labor relations' mechanisms. The Amended Trade Union Act of October 2001 stipulates that union committees have to be democratically elected at members' assemblies and trade unions must be accountable to their members. The trade union has the responsibility to consult with management on key issues of importance to their members and to sign collective agreements. It also grants the trade union an enhanced role in dispute resolution. In December 2003, the Collective Contracts Decree introduced the obligation for representative trade unions and employers to negotiate collective agreements, in contrast to the previous system of non-negotiated administrative agreements.
